

Shimabuku

Barbara Wien
gallery & art bookshop

Schöneberger Ufer 65
10785 Berlin

+49 30 28385352
bw@barbarawien.de barbarawien.de

Installation Shimabuku: Instrumental, WIELS, Brussels, Belgium, 2022

In 1728, an elephant came to Nagasaki. It came on a ship from the Land of the South. The shogun at the time said that he wanted to see the elephant, so the animal traveled on foot all the way from Nagasaki to Edo.* On the way, the elephant made many fans everywhere it went. Since it was a rare white elephant, people who had never seen an elephant before thought that in addition to being big and having a long trunk, elephants were white. In 2001, I made "the elephant that Japanese people first saw" in Kitakyushu Municipal Museum of Art. Then I walked with the elephant along the Nagasaki Kaido, the road that the elephant actually walked all those years ago. Some things happen twice. In 2021, I used my own method to recreate the elephant's arrival by ship in Nagasaki. In English, an elephant's cry is called "trumpet". In 1728, as the elephant approached the port, did people hear the trumpet? I decided to bring a trumpet, which I've never blown before, and ride on the ship with the elephant.

*From Nagasaki to Edo is about 1.200 km. Edo = Tokyo

Some Things Happen Twice: An Elephant Comes from the Sea

2021

HD video, colour, sound and vinyl lettering

HD-Video, Farbe, Ton und Texttafel

16:9, 7:50 min./Min.

Edition 4/5 (+ 2 A.P.)

Sculptures for Octopuses: Exploring for Their Favorite Colors - Aquarium in Kobe

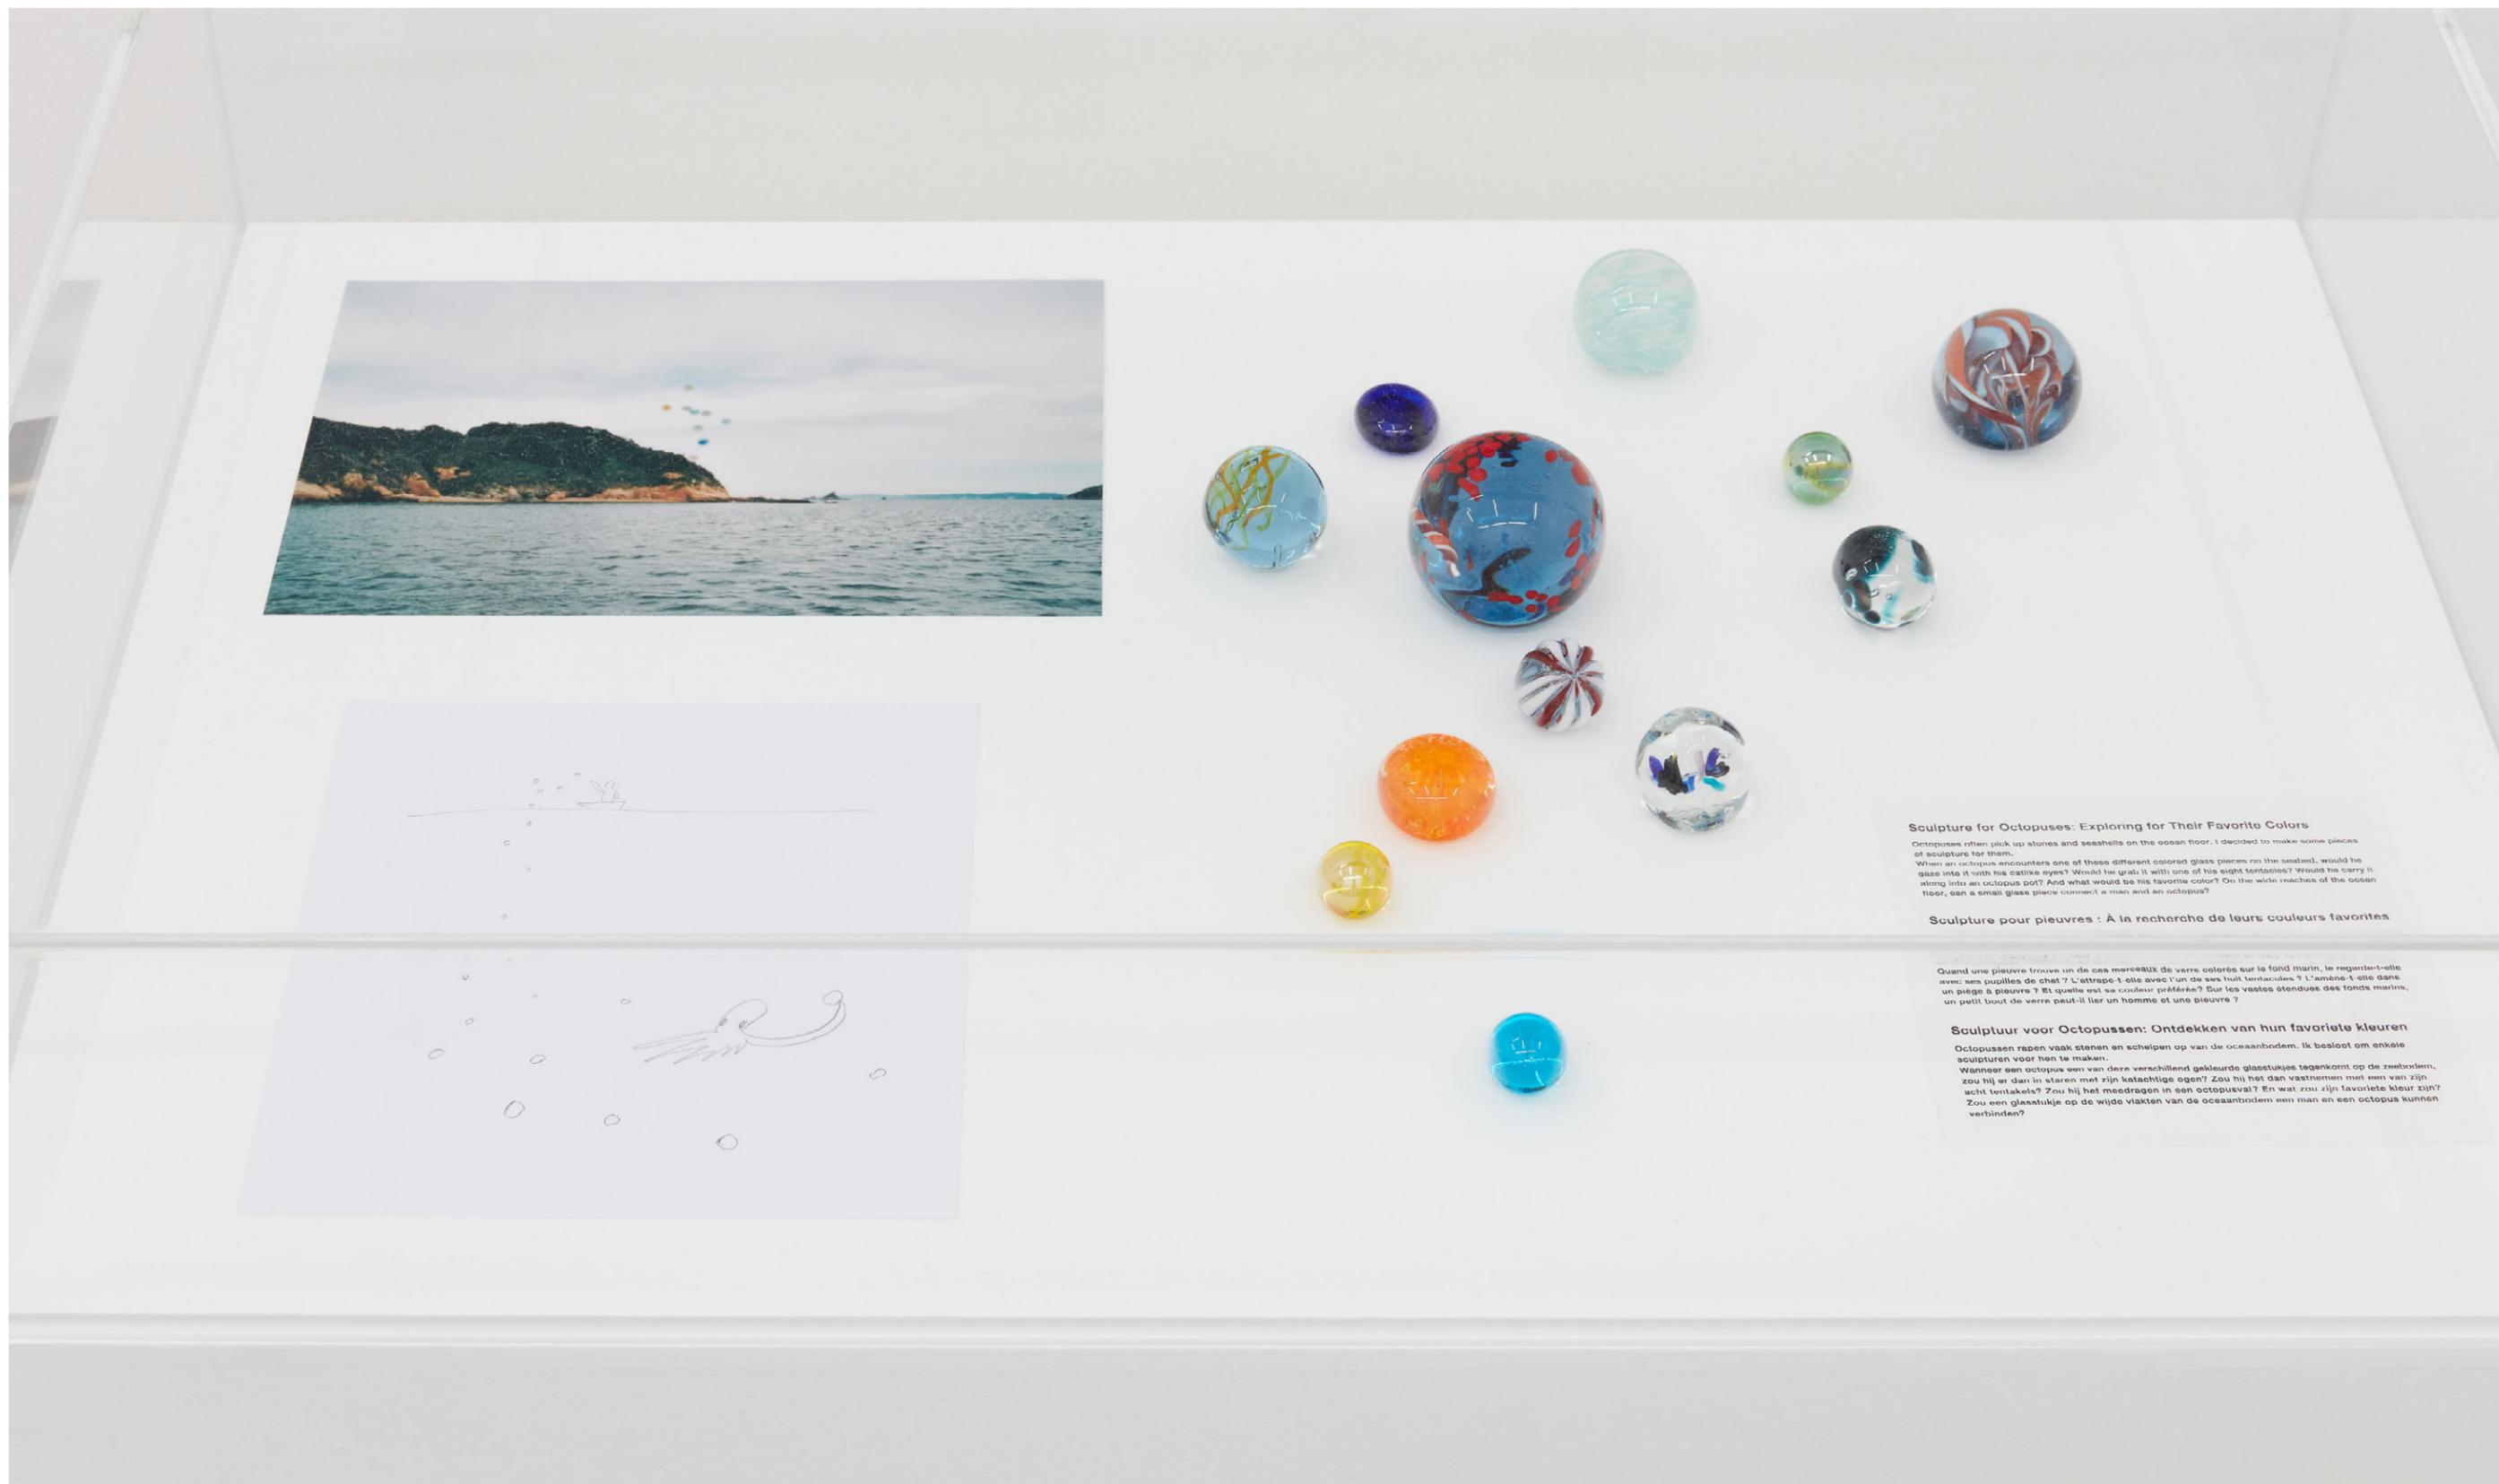

2019

Digital slide show: 22 images, colour, no sound

Digitale Slideshow: 22 Bilder, Farbe, ohne Ton

16:9, 2:31 min./Min.

Edition 4/5 (+ 2 A.P.)

Sculpture for Octopuses: Exploring for Their Favorite Colors

2010

12 glass balls, drawing and photo, pedestal, acrylic cover, text on card

12 Glaskugeln, Zeichnung und Foto, Sockel, Acrylgashaube, Text auf Karte

97 × 80 × 55 cm

Series of 5: A-E (B)

Installation Shimabuku: Instrumental, WIELS, Brussels, Belgium, 2022

Sculpture for Octopuses: Exploring for Their Favorite Colors

Octopuses often pick up stones and seashells on the ocean floor.

I decided to make some pieces of sculpture for them.

When an octopus encounters one of these different colored glass pieces on the seabed, would he gaze into it with his catlike eyes? Would he grab it with one of his eight tentacles? Would he carry it along into an octopus pot? And what would be his favorite color? On the wide reaches of the ocean floor, can a small glass piece connect a man and an octopus?

Oktopoden lesen oft Steine und Muscheln vom Boden des Ozeans auf.

Ich habe beschlossen, ein paar Skulpturen für sie zu machen.

Wenn ein Oktopus auf dem Meeresgrund einem dieser verschiedenfarbigen Glasobjekte begegnet, würde er es mit seinen katzenhaften Augen bestaunen? Würde er es mit einer seiner acht Tentakeln greifen? Würde er es mitnehmen in eine Oktopus-Falle? Und was wäre seine Lieblingsfarbe? Kann ein kleines Glasobjekt in den Weiten des Ozeans einen Menschen und einen Oktopus verbinden?

Sculpture for Octopuses: Exploring for Their Favorite Colors

2010
Details

“One day, when the wars ended, people began to make music by plucking the strings of the bows they once used as weapons, or by rubbing the bowstrings together.

On this day, weapons became instruments.
I wonder, what kind of sounds were made in that moment?”

Bow to Bow

2016

HD video, colour, sound

HD-Video, Farbe, Ton

11:43 min./Min.

Edition: 5 (+2 A.P.)

Film excerpt / Filmausschnitt: <https://vimeo.com/420337927>

Cuban Samba Remix (Remix by Kassin with Arto Lindsay)
2016
3 channel HD video installation, colour, sound
3 Kanal HD-Videoinstallation, Farbe, Ton
9:30 min./Min.
Edition: 5 (+2 A.P.)

Installation at Nogueras Blanchard, Madrid, Spain, 2016

Film excerpt/Filmausschnitt: <https://vimeo.com/417637217>

Photograph wearing rain boots

2014

Analogue C-print, wood, clips, rain boots
Analoge C-Print, Holz, Clips, Gummistiefel

175 × 100 × 47 cm

Edition 3/3 (+2 A.P.)

Leaves swim

2011/2014

Analogue C-print
Analoge C-Print

Image/Bild 46,5 × 69,5 cm, frame/Rahmen 48 × 71 cm

Edition: 1/5 (+2 A.P.)

Leaves swim
2011/2014
Analogue C-print
Analoger C-print
Image/Bild 40 × 60 cm, frame/Rahmen 42 × 62 cm
Edition: 1/5 (+2 A.P.)

Leaves swim
2011/2014
Analogue C-print
Analoger C-print
Image/Bild 62,5 × 42 cm, frame/Rahmen 64 × 43,5 cm
Edition: 1/5 (+2 A.P.)

Leaves Swim

Leaves Swim

2011

Video, colour, no sound

Video, Farbe, ohne Ton

2:30 min./Min.

Edition 5/5 (+ 2 A.P.)

The work is offered in two versions: on one Hantarex monitor or mirrored on two Hantarex monitors.

Previous page/Vorherige Seite: Single version

Right/Rechts: Mirrored version

Film excerpt/Filmausschnitt: <https://vimeo.com/420338078>

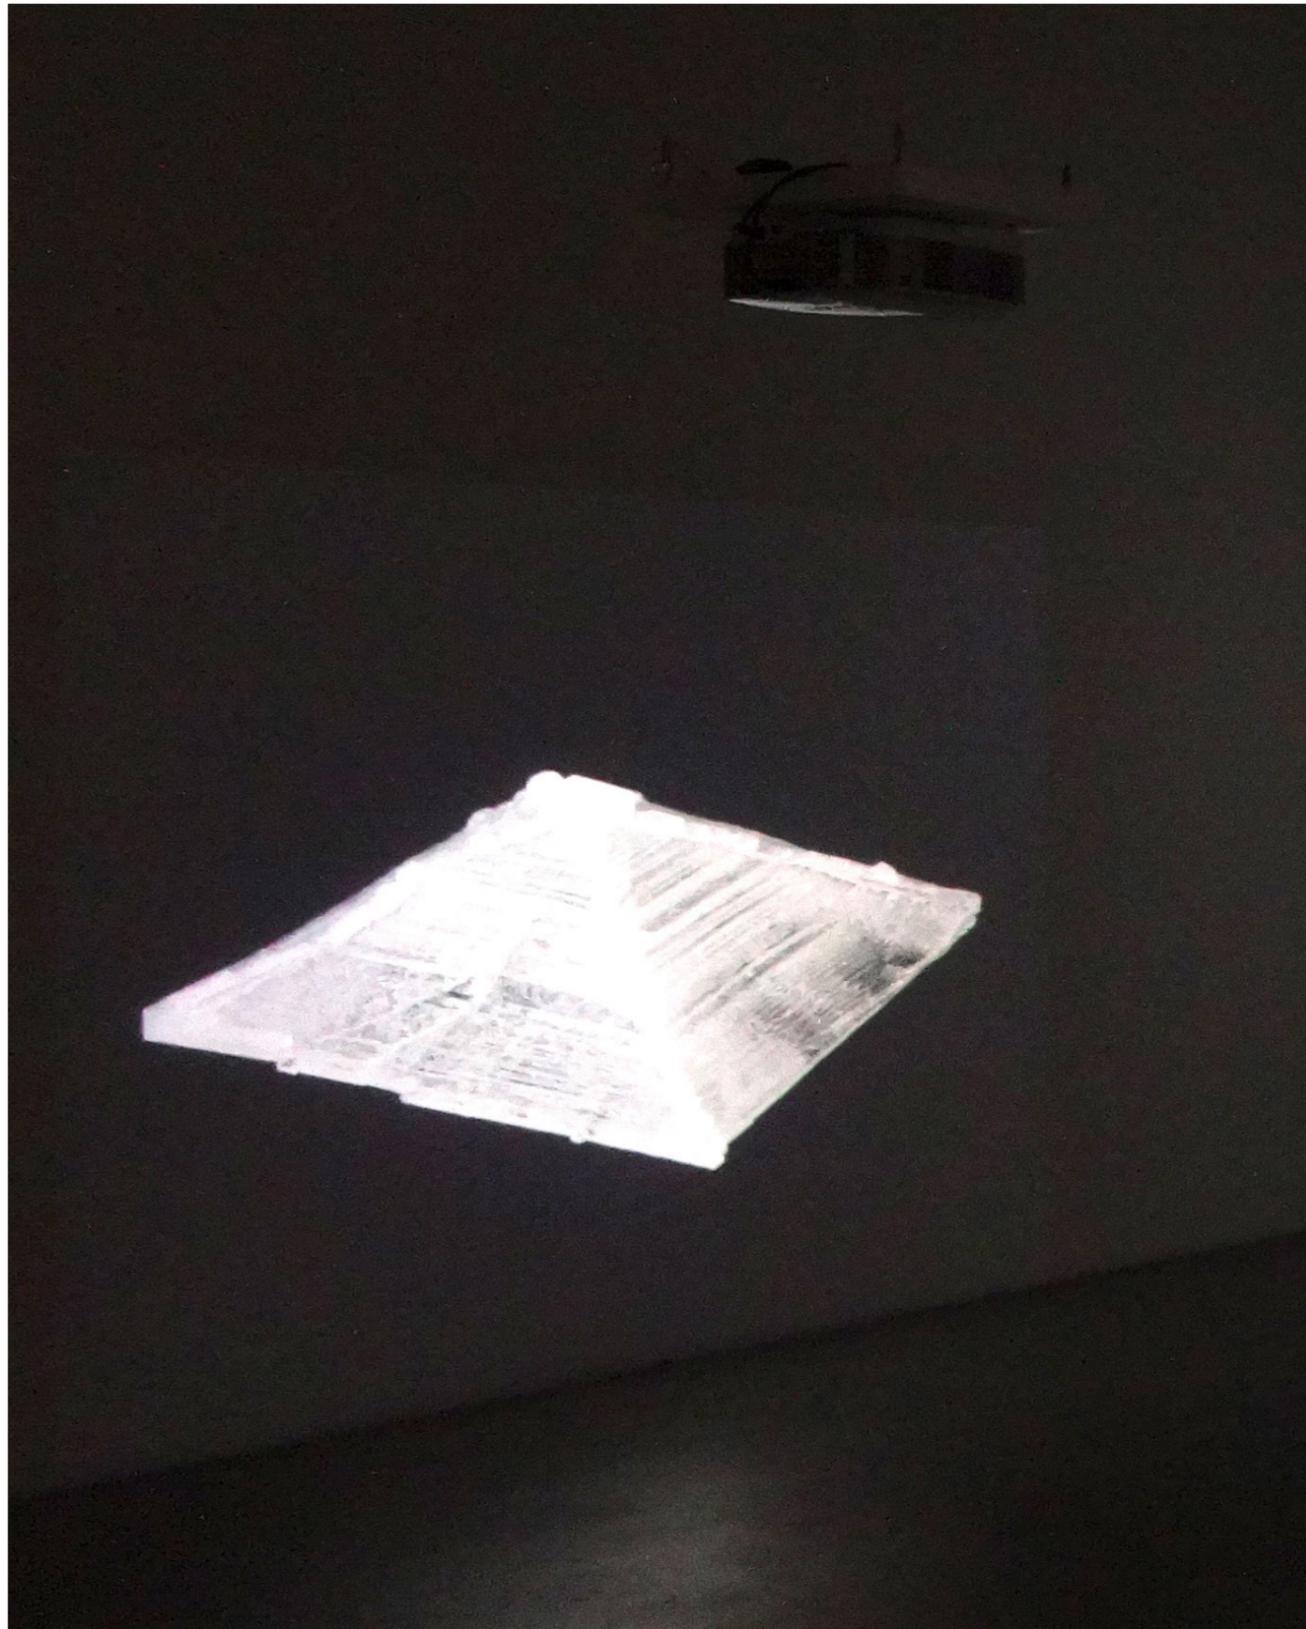

City in the Sea

2013

Left/links: slide show / Slideshow

Right/rechts: framed archival pigment prints / gerahmte Archiv-Pigmentdrucke

Installation Sea and Flowers, Galerie Barbara Wien, Berlin, 2014

City in the Sea

2013

Slide show: 48 digital photographs, colour, no sound

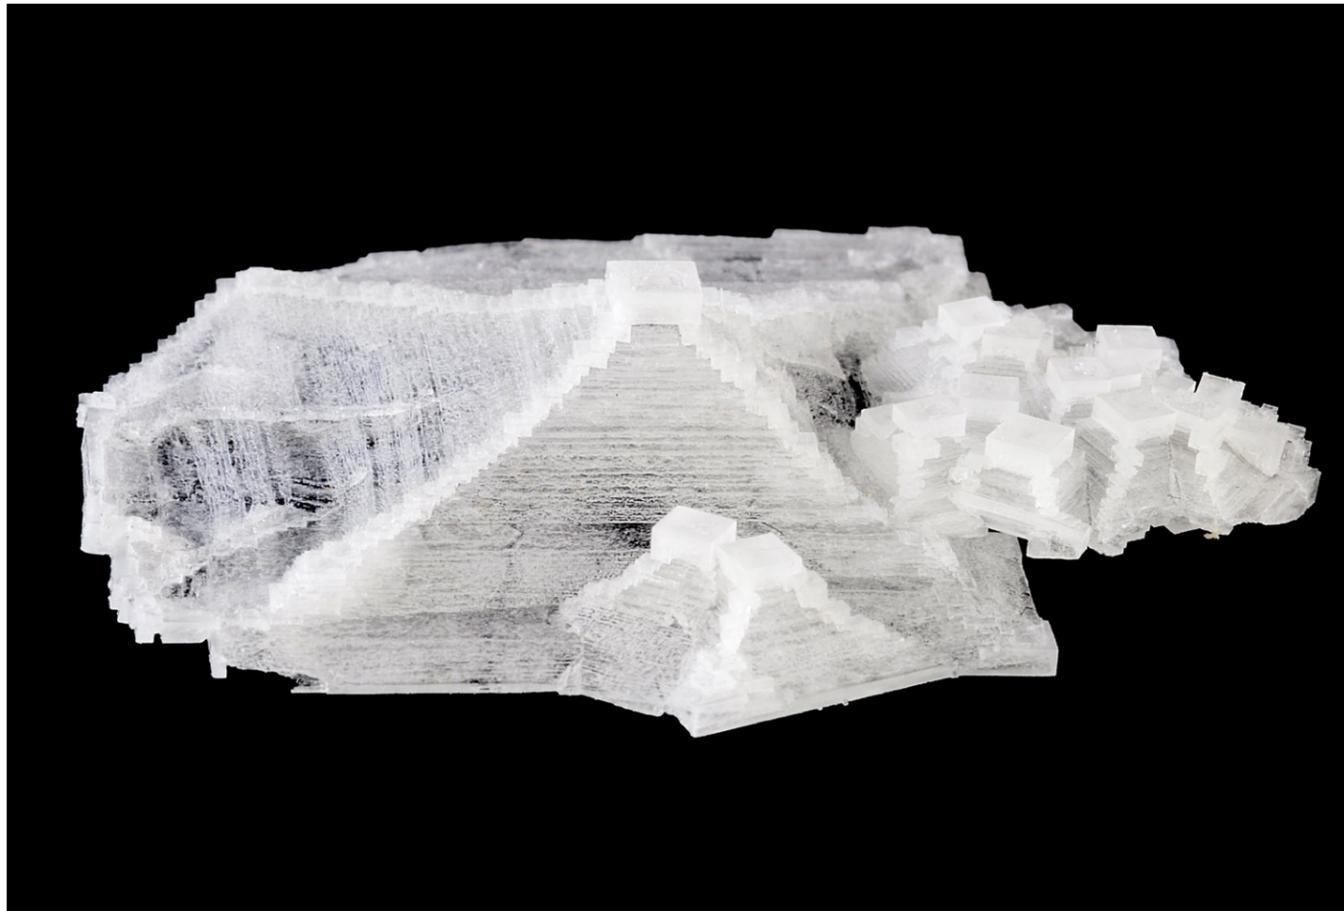

Slideshow: 48 digitale Photographien, Farbe, ohne Ton

5:36 min./Min.

Edition: 5 (+ 2 A.P.)

“I was amazed when I first saw salt crystals. They looked just like a pyramid or ancient ruins. I wanted to photograph the crystals and make them larger so I could look at them. Then one day, it struck me. Our ancestors long ago also looked at salt crystals and felt amazement at the beauty of their forms. In those days, when there were no photographs, they wanted to make the crystals larger in three dimensions, just as they were, and then stand on top of them and make buildings like them, don't you think? Salt crystals were the blue print for pyramids and ancient ruins, I think. Salt crystals do not resemble pyramids; pyramids resemble salt crystals.”

„Ich war erstaunt als ich zum ersten Mal Salzkristalle sah. Sie sahen aus wie Pyramiden oder alte Ruinen. Ich wollte die Kristalle fotografieren und vergrößern um sie betrachten zu können. Dann, eines Tages, war es mir plötzlich klar. Vor langer Zeit betrachteten unsere Vorfahren auch Salzkristalle und staunten über die Schönheit ihrer Formen. Damals, als es noch keine Fotografie gab, wollten sie die Kristalle dreidimensional vergrößern, genau wie sie waren und auf ihnen stehen und Gebäude gleicher Form errichten, glauben Sie nicht? Ich glaube, Salzkristalle waren die Vorlage für Pyramiden und alte Ruinen. Salzkristalle ähneln nicht Pyramiden; Pyramiden ähneln Salzkristallen.”

City in the Sea (No. 1)

City in the Sea (No. 2)

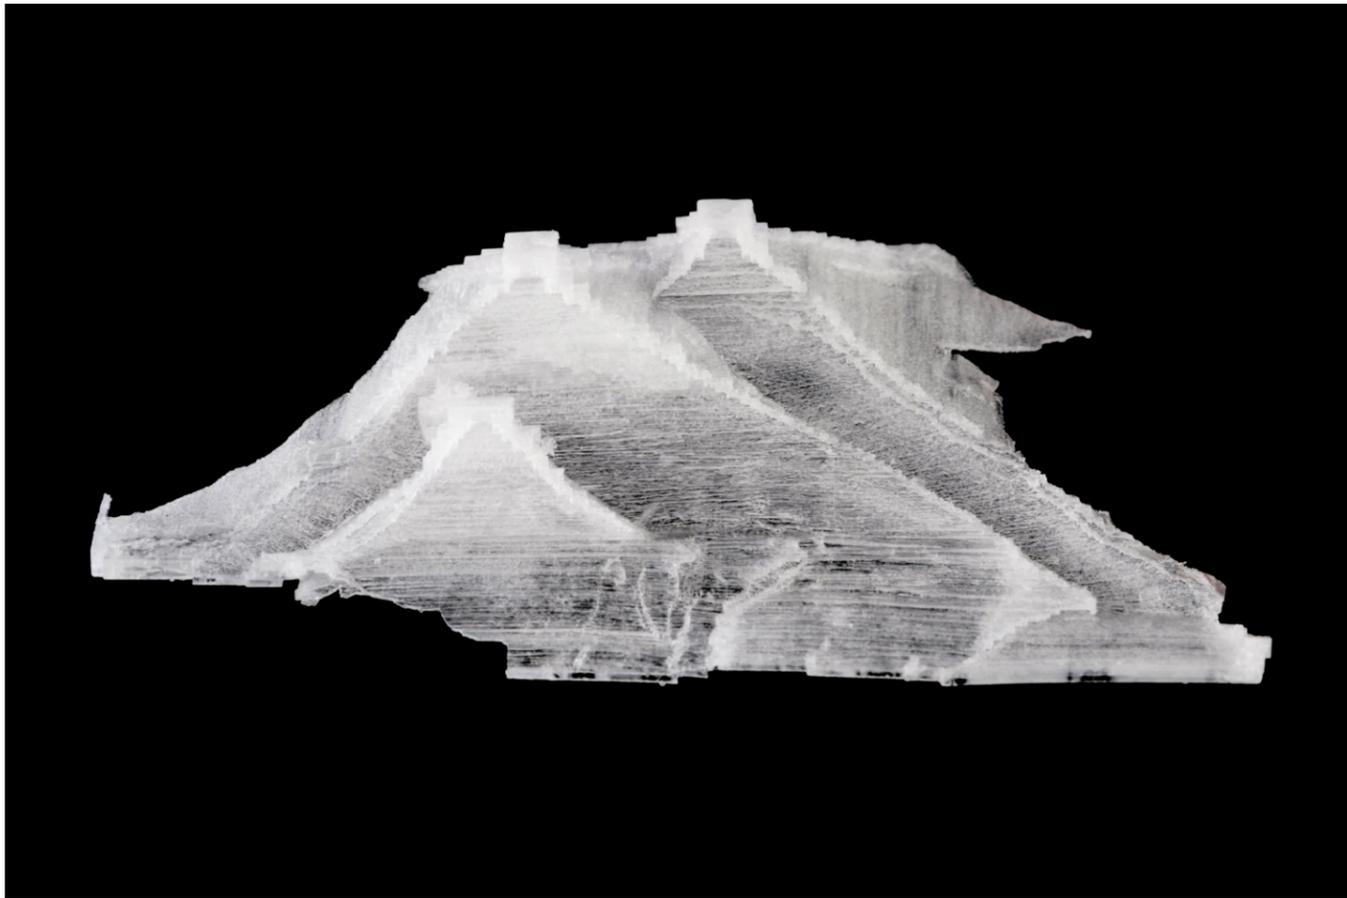

City in the Sea

2013

6 framed archival pigment prints (image size 74 × 111 cm each, frame size 76 × 113 × 4.6 cm each)

6 gerahmte Archiv-Pigmentdrucke (Bildgröße je 74 × 111 cm, Rahmengröße je 76 × 113 × 4,6 cm)

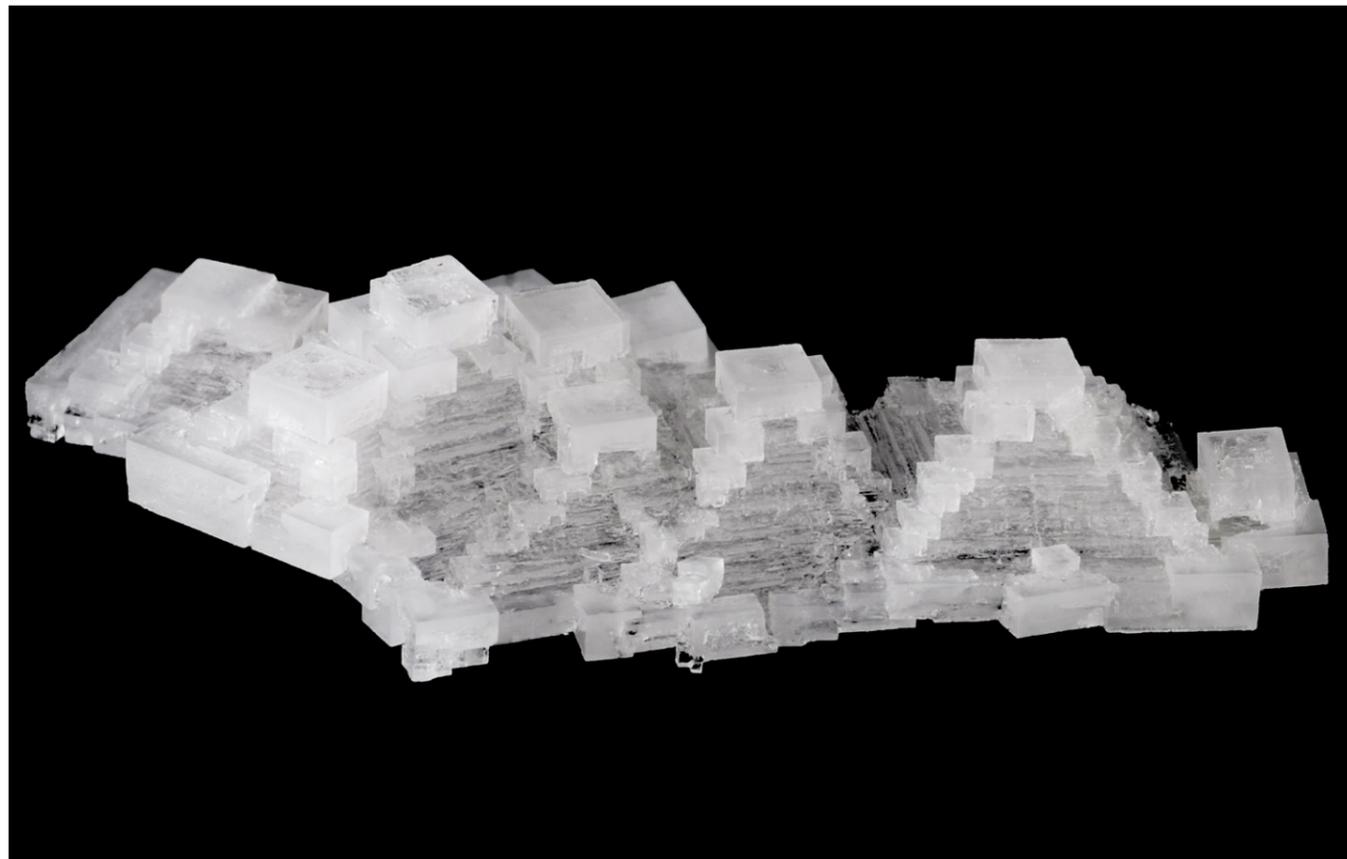

Edition: 5 (+ 2 A.P.)

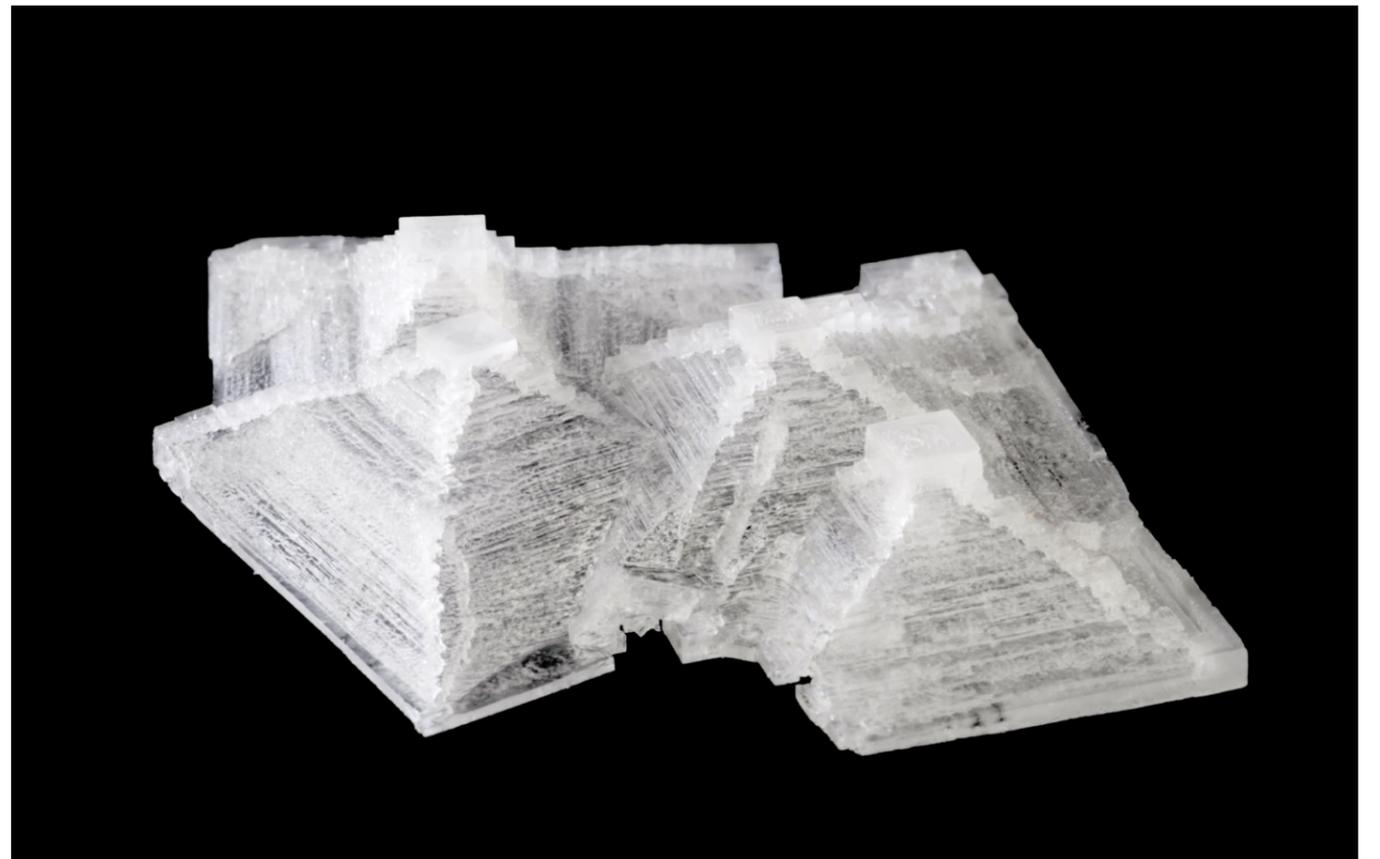

City in the Sea (No.3)

City in the Sea (No.4)

City in the Sea (No.5)

City in the Sea (No.6)

When square becomes circle

2011

Analogue C-print

Analoge C-print

Image/Bild 70 × 105 cm, frame/Rahmen 72 × 107 cm

Edition 3/5 (+ 2 A.P.)

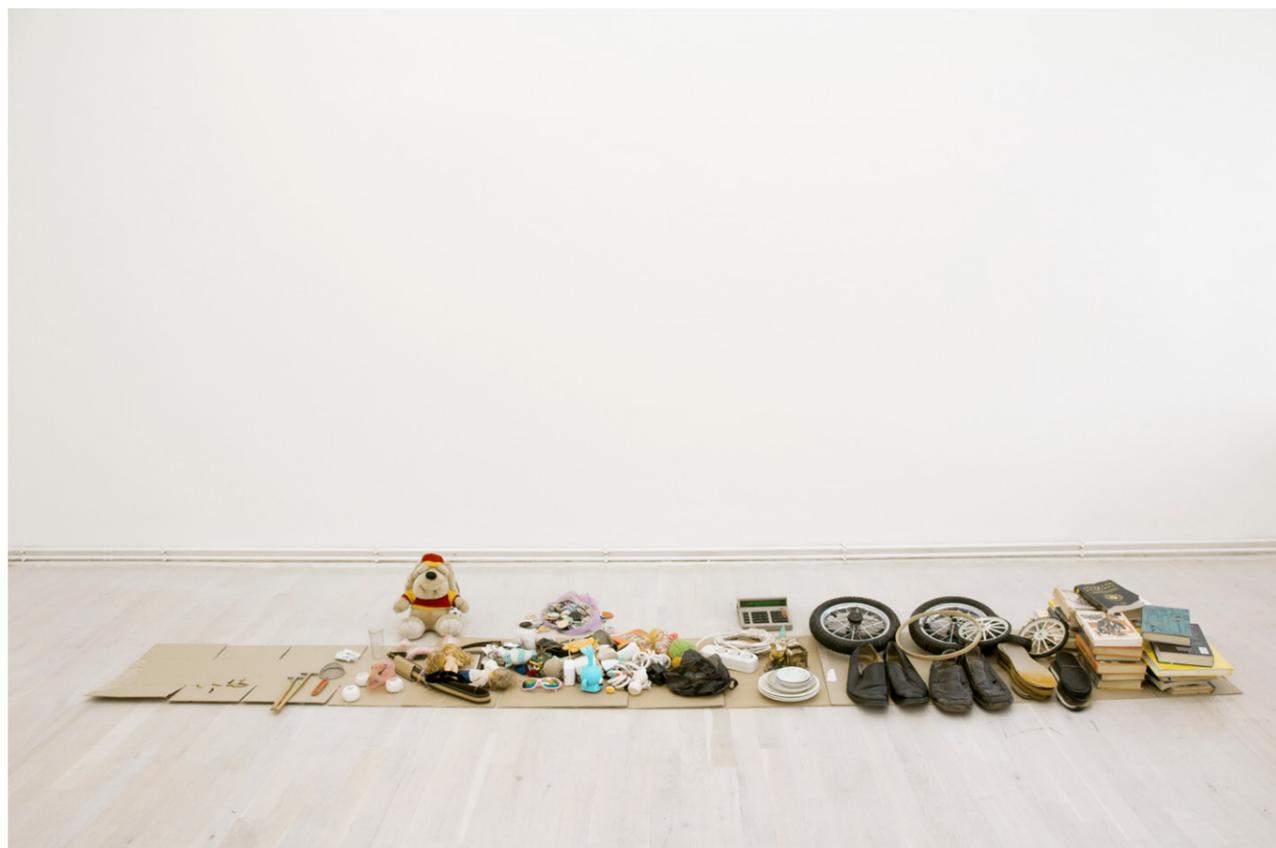

A Great Day

2011

Installation with various Soviet time objects, 1 video (Mini-DV transferred to digital data, colour, sound) & 1 text
Installation mit verschiedenen Objekten aus der Sowjetzeit, 1 Video (Mini-DV digitalisiert, Farbe, Ton) & 1 Text
3 min./Min.

Unique/Unikat

Installation Sea and Flowers, Galerie Barbara Wien, Berlin 2014

A Great Day
2011
Details

SHIMABUKU
A Great Day
2011

Eines Tages in Moskau beobachtete ich einen Straßenverkäufer, der lange Zeit nichts verkaufte. Viele Menschen gingen an ihm vorbei, aber niemand hielt an. Ich machte mir darüber Gedanken, wieviel er an einem Tage verkaufen kann. Ich fragte mich, ob je der Tag kommen wird, an dem er alles verkauft. Nach einer Weile entschied ich, alles von so einem Straßenverkäufer zu kaufen.

SHIMABUKU
A Great Day
2011

One day on the street of Moscow, I had kept watching a street seller who sold nothing for long time. Many people passed by in front of him, but nobody stopped there. I started to think how much he can sell in one day. I wondered if ever there will come the day when he sells everything. After a while, I decided to buy everything from such seller on the street.

“Some tomatoes float and some sink. Some vegetables float and some sink. This is something I always noticed while cooking, and always found mysterious. So I decided to make work about something mysterious, leave it mysterious and have people experience it just as it is. (Later I discovered that besides the floating and sinking tomatoes, there was yet another kind, the swimming tomatoes.”

Something that Floats/ Something that Sinks

2010

2 Aluminium tubs with water on pedestals, 2 water streamers, 2 tomatoes, 2 limes

2 Aluminiumwannen mit Wasser auf Podesten, 2 Wasserpumpen, 2 Tomaten, 2 Limetten

Pedestal/ Podest 30 × 78 × 78 cm, tub/ Wanne Ø 60

Edition 3/5 (+ 2 A.P.)

Sakepirinha

FISH & CHIPS

HEINRICH

Sakepirinha

2008

Neon sign and framed Sakepirinha Recipe Poster

Neonschild und ein gerahmter Druck mit Sakepirinharezept

Sign/Schild 98 × 228 cm, poster/Druck

(ink jet print/Druck 75 × 50 cm, frame/Rahmen 82 × 57 × 4 cm)

Edition 3/3 (+ 2 A.P.)

Performance with/mit Damián Ortega, daadgalerie, Berlin, 2006

Wie kann man etwas akzeptieren, was man nicht versteht? How do you accept something you don't understand?

Ich brachte einige deutsche Studenten dazu, ein japanisches Lied, das ihnen unverständlich war, auswendig zu lernen und zu singen.
Es ging darum, Dinge zu akzeptieren, ohne daß man sie versteht.

I had some German students memorize and sing a Japanese song that to them was incomprehensible, to practice accepting things they don't understand, without understanding them.

“How do you accept something you don't understand?
I had some German students memorize and sing a Japanese song that to them was incomprehensible, to practice accepting things they don't understand, without understanding them.”

„Wie kann man etwas akzeptieren, was man nicht versteht?
Ich brachte einige deutsche Studenten dazu, ein japanisches Lied, das ihnen unverständlich war, auswendig zu lernen und zu singen.
Es ging darum Dinge zu akzeptieren, ohne daß man sie versteht.“

Installation how to write I, Galerie Barbara Wien, Berlin, 2013

How do you accept something you don't understand?

2006/2008

Videoinstallation: Text on the wall and DVD (colour, sound)

Videoinstallation: Wandtext und DVD (Farbe, Ton)

5:08 min./Min.

Edition 1 / 5 (+ 2 A.P.)

Film excerpt / Filmausschnitt: <https://vimeo.com/417637427>

“There is an interesting story behind this photo work: When I used to live in Queens, New York in 2000, I took this photo at my neighborhood near Lagaardia airport . I just found a beautiful abstract cloud/smoke from small air plane, so I took this, but later I knew Yoko Ono made a skywriting work at same day at Manhattan New York! So what I took can be some left over smoke of Yoko Ono! I think the airplane tried to throw away unused smoke before landing. The sky after Yoko Ono!”

Untitled (New York)

2000

Type C print (Analogue Photo Print from Film)

C-Print (analoge Photodruck)

Image/Bild 70 × 103 cm, frame/Rahmen 77 × 110 cm

Edition: 5 (+ 2 A.P.)